Understanding & Using Organic Pesticides in Garden

Many people believe that organic produce is pesticide free. They are not. Environmentally friendly products are used but they are not like traditional broad spectrum pesticides. This class will explain how they work and how they should be used and handled in order to get the best results.

Instructor:

Gary L. Heilig, horticulture educator for MSU Extension in Ingham County. He has been growing grapes, raspberries, strawberries, apples, pears, peaches, plums, and cherries for more than 30 years.

February 23, 2012

6:30 to 9:00 p.m.
